[1] Germanio means Old Germany (history) (germana, German, -in; germanana, -e).
[2] Belgal might mean "French as spoken in Belgium"; same, Swisal German as spoken in Switzerland, or Swiss dialect.
[3] Amerikal and Usal mean "American (language)" or "English as spoken in America (in the United State)".
[4] "australa" (better "Suda"), would mean "austral, southern".
[5] ocean means "ocean" (oceana oceanic).
[6] Londonal means: London slang, Cockney; Parisal: Parisian argot; Romal Roman dialect.
[7] Inhabitants may also be called: Britun, -tin; Anglun, Anglin; Fransun, Fransin; etc.

For the languages, there are verbal, adjective and adverbial derivations:

anglala, -e in English; anglali to speak, to know English;
fransala, -e in French; fransali to speak, to know French;
rusala, -e in Russian; rusali to speak, to know Russian.
